

Through Their Eyes: The Angels

Luke 2:8–15 | Small Group Discussion Guide

Opening Question

When you think about angels in the Christmas story, what usually comes to mind?
How did this message help you see their role differently?

Read - Luke 2:8–15

Discuss:

- Why do you think God chose shepherds instead of religious leaders or royalty to hear the announcement first?
- In what ways do you sometimes feel “ordinary,” unnoticed, or insignificant?
- How does this part of the story encourage you about how God sees you?
- The angel announces Jesus as Savior, Christ, and Lord—three powerful titles. Which of these titles stands out most to you right now, and why?
- How is Jesus different from the kinds of “kings” or leaders our world expects?
- Is there an area of your life where Jesus feels more like a comforting symbol than Lord?
- Why do you think the angels connect God’s glory with peace on earth?
- Where are you currently longing for peace—in your heart, relationships, or circumstances?
- How does worshipping God help realign your heart toward peace?
- Why do you think God entrusts His message to people instead of keeping angels on earth?
- Who in your life might need to hear “good news of great joy” this Christmas?
- What is one simple way you could share hope, peace, or encouragement this season?

Closing Prayer

“Lord, thank You that You see the ordinary and still call us into Your extraordinary work. Help us worship You fully, receive Your peace, and carry Your good news into the world this Christmas. May our lives echo the angels’ song: Glory to God in the highest. Amen.”
